Forthcoming Two Important Scholarly Titles in Slavic Studies

Limits to Interpretation
The Meanings of Anna Karenina
Vladimir E. Alexandrov

“Alexandrov has written an immensely thorough, imaginative, original and revealing analysis of this great novel that is at the same time a forthright advocacy of more rigorous, text-focused interpretation. The book should thus be of great interest both to Tolstoy aficionados and to adepts of the theory of narrative prose.”—Hugh McLean

“A much more exhaustive and detailed analysis of the novel than anyone has ever attempted before—an analysis quite remarkable and illuminating, and nothing less than admirable in its search for the secrets of Tolstoy in the labyrinth of his own text. [Alexandrov's book] is written so clearly and lucidly . . . that it may well appeal to intelligent non-specialist readers with an interest in Tolstoy.”—Joseph Frank

This book advocates a broad revision of the academic study of literature and proposes an adaptive, text-specific reading methodology that is designed to minimize the circularity of interpretation inherent in the act of reading. It then illustrates this method on the example of Tolstoy's classic novel via a detailed "map" of the different possible readings that the novel can support. Anna Karenina emerges as deeply conflicted, polyvalent, and quite unlike what one finds in other critical studies.

The Pushkin Handbook
Edited by David M. Bethea

The Pushkin Handbook, a collection of new studies by leading Pushkinists from the former Soviet Union, North America, and elsewhere, unites in one volume a multiplicity of voices engaged in a genuinely post-Soviet dialogue.

Contributors to the volume consider Pushkin in terms of his biography; his innovations in the forms of the lyric, the narrative poem, the novel in verse, drama, and fictional prose; his thoughts on history, politics, and literature; the textological challenges of his work; and the problems of translating it. Another major focus is Pushkin's place in the literary and cultural cosmos: his relationship to his Russian predecessors and contemporaries, his responses to other European literatures, his role within the traditions of Romanticism and Realism, his reception and interpretation by readers at various points in history.

CAMBRIDGE UNIVERSITY PRESS
www.cambridge.org
Our firm offers you the latest Russian books direct from Moscow. Our clients in Great Britain include the British Library, the Bodleian Library, the Brotherton Library at Leeds University, Cambridge University Library, SSEES Library, the Taylor Institution Library in Oxford and several other university libraries. We have also been supplying books for the past ten years to major academic libraries in the USA (Chicago, Columbia, Harvard, Yale), Belgium, Switzerland, Finland, Germany, Italy, Sweden and Norway.

All the books in our weekly lists are available for immediate delivery and are paid for after they have been received.

The subjects we cover are:

- Archaeology & Anthropology
- Art (albums and history)
- Literature (texts, criticism, history)
- Dictionaries & Reference Works
- Politics
- Psychology
- History
- Sociology
- Theology

Our working procedure is as follows:

1. We e-mail you weekly lists of 40 titles; all of which have been published and are available. Prices are quoted in US$.
2. Each entry includes a summary of the book's contents, as for example:
3. To place an order, you e-mail us the number(s) of the book(s) you are interested in and, to avoid possible mistakes, the author's name or the first words of the title, as for instance:
   210510. Chizhova I.B. Sud'ba
4. We post you your books in 3kg parcels (the most economical weight) at a charge of US$10 and e-mail you invoices listing the contents of each parcel.
5. Payment is made to one of our bank accounts in UK, Germany or USA.

To ensure you have no further problems obtaining recent Russian books, all you now need to do is e-mail a request for our lists to:

kozmenko@online.ru

After that you will have no problems with the recent Russian books.

The Pověst' vremennykh lět: An Interlinear Collation and Paradosis
Edited and collated by Donald Ostrowski with David Birnbaum and Horace G. Lunt

The Tale of Bygone Years (Pověst' vremennykh lět) is the most important source for the history of early Rus'. Full of stories of grand princes and saints, monks and knightly retinues, this chronicle compilation has been the bedrock of modern interpretations of the history, ethos, and religious traditions of Ukrainians, Russians, and Belarusians alike. It has also been a source of controversy, with competing redactions and interpretations of the Old East Slavic language in which it was written. Ostrowski provides scholars and general readers with the five oldest redactions, three more modern redactions, three later interpolations, and his own final interpretation of the Pověst'.

234i pp., 3 pts. cloth ISBN 0-916458-91-1 (OSTPOV) $125.00

Josef Dobrovský and the Origins of the Igor' Tale
Edward L. Keenan

In this controversial book, Keenan demonstrates that the text of the Slovo o polku Igoreve (the Igor' Tale) is not an authentic twelfth-century document. Rather, he argues that it is a product of the late eighteenth century, created by the Bohemian Jesuit scholar Josef Dobrovsky, the greatest Slavist of his time and the only one who possessed the knowledge needed to create a work as unique as the Tale. At the center of the book is Keenan's meticulous, word-by-word analysis of the Tale. Keenan illuminates passages of the text that have remained opaque despite over two centuries of analysis by scholars. His insights into the creation and publication of the Tale will spark scholarly debate for many years.

Lviv: A City in the Crosscurrents of Culture
Edited by John Czaplicka

Czaplicka presents a collection of essays by scholars from a wide range of disciplines: historiography, architecture, literary history and criticism, urban planning, and cultural history. The essays reflect the confluences of cultures, at times violent but always passionate, that have shaped a city that stands at a most strategic location between East and West.

PAINTING A PEOPLE
Maurycy Gottlieb and Jewish Art
Ezra Mendelsohn

Maurycy Gottlieb was born in 1856 in Drohobycz in the province of Galicia in the Austro-Hungarian Empire. In the course of his very short life, Gottlieb painted dozens of extraordinary works that have since found homes in museums in Eastern Europe, where he has long been honored as a Polish artist, and in Israel, where, following a major Tel Aviv exhibition in 1991, he achieved the status of a founding father of Jewish art.

Ezra Mendelsohn situates Gottlieb's impressive body of work in the context of contemporary European painting and uses Gottlieb's work to illuminate the sociopolitical and cultural complexity of the Austro-Hungarian Empire prior to World War I. Interpreting the paintings and their reception, in Gottlieb's day and beyond, Mendelsohn addresses several key issues in modern Jewish history, among them identity, assimilation, acculturation, nationalism, the relationship between Jewry and European culture, and relations between Jews and non-Jews, particularly Poles.

University Teaching Fellowships

The Civic Education Project (CEP) awards teaching fellowships to faculty, PhDs and advanced post-graduate students in the social sciences, law and journalism/media studies. Fellows teach at universities located throughout Eastern Europe, the former Soviet Union and Mongolia.

Visiting Faculty Fellows are academics from outside the post-communist region who teach and mentor for one academic year at the university level. They receive a stipend, round-trip air travel, accommodation, health insurance, language lessons and allowances for teaching materials.

Local Faculty Fellows are academics from within the region who have graduated from a North American or West European university with a postgraduate degree. CEP supports their efforts to stay in academia in their home country by providing a monthly stipend, teaching materials and participation in various CEP events and activities.

Visiting and Local Faculty Fellows become part of an academic network covering all CEP program countries. Fellows work on a variety of outreach projects outside the classroom. CEP has programs in 26 countries and supports more than 250 Fellows teaching at 180 partner universities throughout the region.

Applications are accepted on a rolling basis beginning in September. The final application deadline is February 14.

ON THE BATTLEFIELDS OF THE COLD WAR
A SOVIET AMBASSADOR'S CONFESSON
Victor Israelyan

“Memoirs are worthless if their authors attempt to present themselves as angels. I resolutely oppose those of my countrymen who shift responsibility for Soviet evils exclusively to the leaders. It is important that each Soviet citizen realize and admit his or her share of the responsibility.”

The Big Show in Bololand
The American Relief Expedition to Soviet Russia in the Famine of 1921

BERTRAND M. PATENAUDE

"A richly informative and unusually engaging book. In the history of a long-forgotten episode . . . [Patenaude] has found a template for understanding much of what transpired thereafter in the Soviet-American relationship. And he has done it with brio, marshalling a colorful cast of characters."
—David M. Kennedy, author of Freedom From Fear: The American People in Depression and War, 1929-1945

"Every generation has to learn history anew and in The Big Show in Bololand Bertrand M. Patenaude gives us a superb lesson."
—The Washington Times

When a devastating famine descended on Bolshevik Russia in 1921, the United States responded with a massive relief program that included nearly 300 American relief workers who were the first outsiders to witness and record Russia's Bolshevism. This epic tale is here related as an American adventure story, largely derived from the diaries, memoirs, and letters of the diverse and colorful group of American participants.

Shafiga Daulet has produced what I am convinced will be the definitive study of this remarkable historical interaction between Moscow and Kazan... her study promises to help dispel finally “The Long Shadow of 1552”... Few historians can claim as much for their work. Even fewer can actually achieve it.

Paul A. Goble
Formerly Communications Director, Radio Free/Radio Liberty Europe
Currently, Senior Adviser to the Director of Voice of America

I know of no scholar or person better qualified to illuminate this neglected but most important history of Tatarstan from its medieval origins to the present than Dr. Daulet, the author of this major, original work. ... it fills an urgently needed gap in the world’s knowledge of the heritage and contemporary significance of this leader of the resurgent Turkic states following the collapse of the Soviet Union.

Professor Halil Inalcik
Distinguished Professor of History, Emeritus, University of Chicago

Dr. Shafiga Daulet’s analysis of the five hundred year long, peaceable struggle of the Kazan-Tatars to regain their freedom from Russian imperialism offers a rare example of peaceful resolution of ethnic conflict. A key component of this remarkable study, which has not yet been examined by anyone else, analyzes the comparative impacts of the new Russian Federation’s Presidents Yeltsin and Putin on its Turkic Republic of Tatarstan’s successful efforts to establish democracy and a viable market economy. Former President Yeltsin’s liberalization program empowered Tatarstan to achieve remarkable economic and political progress during the 1990s which is currently being thwarted by Moscow in this new century under President Putin’s authoritarianism. In short, this book provides an original, in-depth analysis of Tatarstan’s past and present; its history before and after Ivan the Terrible’s conquest of the Khanate of Kazan in 1552; the Kazan-Tatars’ pacifist tradition; their rich cultural and literary heritage; enlightened Islamic reformation of the 18th–20th centuries; their various national congresses held before and after the 1917 Russian Revolution and women’s pioneering and active participation in them; several attempts by modern Kazan-Tatars to form a state; and the Tatar Republic under Communism and today.

Professor of History, Emeritus, The University of Connecticut
